Important Information about RMDs from Traditional/SEP IRAsNote: The RMD does not apply for a Roth IRA plan.Important SECURE Act law updates for 2020. The act raised the age Traditional and SEP IRA owners must begin taking Required Minimum Distributions from 70½ to 72 for individuals who turn 70½ beginning in 2020. Effective January 1, 2020, IRA owners born on or after July 1, 1949 are not required to take their first RMD distribution until April 1st of the year after they turn age 72. IRA owners who turned 70½ prior to January 1, 2020 (date of birth on or before June 30, 1949) are required to continue their RMD distributions in 2020 and 2021 to avoid an IRS 50% penalty. Please see a qualified tax advisor for additional information.Required Minimum Distribution (RMD) RegulationIRAs are designed to encourage tax-deferred savings for an individual's retirement; they are not intended to permanently shelter these dollars from income tax. Therefore, Internal Revenue Service (IRS) regulations (Internal Revenue Code 408(a)) require that IRA account holders begin taking annual distributions from their Traditional/SEP IRA in the year in which they turn age 70½ (date of birth on or before June 30, 1949) or age 72 (date of birth on or after July 1, 1949). The objective is for the IRA to be disbursed during the account holder's lifetime. To accomplish this, the RMD for each year is calculated by using the Uniform Lifetime Table divisor applicable to the individual's age for that calendar year. The table applies to both married and single plan participants and is applied annually. The data required is the individual's age in the distribution year and the account value (fair market value) of the plan as of the end of the prior calendar year. Those individuals with a spousal beneficiary who is more than 10 years younger will use the Joint Life Table. However, this will result in a longer distribution period. The RMD must be satisfied by December 31 of each year.Navy Federal will calculate, arrange, and disburse the IRA account holder's RMD free of charge upon receipt of NFCU 312 or a letter containing equivalent information. However, the IRA account holder bears the ultimate responsibility. Because of the complexity of the IRA rules and possible tax implications for individual circumstances, members may wish to consult with a qualified tax advisor for additional assistance. In addition, Publication 590-B, Distribution from IRAs, is available from the IRS. You may also call Navy Federal's IRA Section at 1-888-842-6328 between 7:30 am and 7:30 pm, Monday through Friday, Eastern Time.Required Beginning DateIRA account holders must receive the entire lump sum balance or begin receiving annual disbursements by December 31 of the year in which they turn 70½ (date of birth on or before June 30, 1949) or age 72 (date of birth on or after July 1, 1949). The first annual payout may be delayed until April 1 of the following year. If this option is chosen, the account holder will receive two distributions in the first year. Future RMDs may not be delayed and must be distributed by December 31 of each year.Beneficiary Information

The IRA account holder may change the beneficiary(ies) of the plan without consequence(s) to the RMD, unless you are using the Joint Life Table.

Multiple IRAs

If the account holder has multiple IRAs (at different financial institutions), they may take distributions from each IRA. You may also combine the total fair market value and take the distribution from an IRA at one financial institution. We will use the Uniform Lifetime Table to calculate these distributions.

IRS Penalties

You may have to pay the IRS a penalty tax equal to 50% of a RMD if you fail to withdraw in a timely manner.

Method and Frequency of Distributions From a Navy Federal IRAThe RMD from Navy Federal may be distributed monthly, quarterly, or annually as determined by the account holder. The account holder has the option of having the funds deposited into a non-IRA Navy Federal account, sent by check via mail, or mailed to a non-IRA account at another financial institution. The RMD from your Navy Federal IRA will be disbursed first from your IRA share account(s) followed by IRA certificates with the lowest dividend rates. Navy Federal will not assess a dividend penalty on RMD funds withdrawn from an IRA certificate. If we do not receive written notification from you, your RMD will not be distributed.*IRA ContributionsFor taxable year 2020 and beyond, the law removes the age limit at which an individual can contribute to a traditional IRA. Anyone that is working and has earned income is allowed to contribute to a traditional IRA regardless of age. Contributions for the preceding year (2020 and later) can be made up to the IRS deadline for each given year.IRA Rollovers and Direct TransfersIt is possible for account holders to take IRA distributions that are intended to be "rolled back" into an IRA within 60 days, or transferred to another financial institution during their 70½ (date of birth on or before June 30, 1949) or 72 (date of birth on or after July 1, 1949) year and forward. Sometimes, these funds may not be redeposited back into the IRA account until after December 31 and therefore will not appear as part of the fair market value used to determine the RMD for that year. Nevertheless, these must be added back into the December 31 fair market value balance when calculating the RMD. A 60-day rollover withdrawal does not satisfy the RMD requirement. RMDs are not eligible for rollovers and must be satisfied prior to a 60-day rollover.

Tax Withholding (Form W-4P/OMB No. 1545-0074)

Basic Information About Withholding From IRAs

Generally, federal income tax withholding applies to payments made from IRAs.

Purpose of Form W-4P

Unless you elect otherwise, federal income tax will be withheld from payments from IRAs. You can use IRS Form W-4P or a substitute form, such as that contained on this form furnished by the Trustee or Custodian, to instruct your Trustee or Custodian to withhold no tax from your IRA payments (or to revoke this election). This substitute form should be used only for distributions from IRAs that are payable upon demand.

Non-Periodic Payments

Payments from IRAs that are payable upon demand are treated as non-periodic payments for federal income tax purposes. Generally, non-periodic payments must have income tax withheld at a rate not less than 10%.

You can elect to have no income tax withheld from a non-periodic payment (IRA payment) by filing IRS form W-4P or a substitute form with the Trustee or Custodian and checking the appropriate box on that form. Your election will remain in effect for any subsequent distribution unless you change or revoke it.

A U.S. citizen or resident alien may not waive withholding on any distribution delivered outside the U.S. or its possessions. Distributions to a non-resident alien are generally subject to a tax-withholding rate of 30%. A reduced withholding rate, including exemption, may apply if there is a tax treaty between the non-resident alien's country of residence and the United States, and the non-resident alien submits Form W8-BEN, Certificate of Foreign Status of Beneficial Owner for United States Tax Withholding, or satisfies the documentation requirements as provided under the regulations.

For more information, please see Publication 505, Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax and Publication 515, Withholding of Tax on Non-resident Aliens and Foreign Entities, available from most IRS offices.

Caution: Remember that there are penalties for not paying enough tax during the year, through either withholding or estimated tax payments. New retirees should see Publication 505. It explains the estimated tax requirements and penalties in detail. You may be able to avoid quarterly estimated tax payments by having enough tax withheld from your IRA using IRS Form W-4P.

Revoking the Exemption From Withholding

If you want to revoke your previously filed exemption from withholding, file another IRS Form W-4P with the Trustee or Custodian and check the appropriate box on that form.

Statement of Income Tax Withheld From Your IRA

By January 31 of next year, you will receive a statement from your Trustee or Custodian showing the total amount of your IRA payments and the total federal income tax withheld during the year. Copies of IRS Form W-4P will not be sent to the IRS by the Trustee or Custodian.
