Training magazine recognizes Navy Federal for harnessing human capital.

VIENNA, Va. (March 1, 2010) – Navy Federal Credit Union has been named to Training magazine’s “Training Top 125” list of outstanding organizations for the second straight year. Navy Federal, the world’s largest credit union, ranked # 66, and is the only credit union affiliated with the Defense Credit Union Council to be honored in 2010.

“Moving up 12 places in the ranking from last year validates our continued commitment to employee development,” said Louise Foreman, Navy Federal’s Executive Vice President, Human Resources. “Our employees are our most valuable resource. Our philosophy centers on creating a work environment where employees can enhance their work and life skill sets which translates into an enthusiastic and passionate team delivering the exceptional member service that Navy Federal is known for.”

Each Top 125 company was measured on both quantitative and qualitative data, on factors such as demonstrable results, training tied to business objectives, employee turnover and retention, leadership, development, tuition assistance, training technology and infrastructure.

In 2009, Navy Federal received Training magazine’s “Training Top 125” for employer-sponsored workforce training and development; selected Best Companies to Work for in Florida and Best Places to Work in Hawaii.
