Navy Federal Offers Free CARFAX Reports to Members
Expanded Partnership with CARFAX Helps Protect Against Purchase of Unsafe Used Cars

VIENNA, Va. (November 14, 2018) – Navy Federal Credit Union is offering free CARFAX® Vehicle History Reports to its members. Members approved for a used auto loan through Navy Federal can receive a free CARFAX Report provided by the credit union. Navy Federal is the largest financial institution now giving members no-cost access to CARFAX information that helps protect them from purchasing potentially unsafe and unreliable used cars.

“Navy Federal is always looking for new ways to set its members up for success,” said Joe Pendergast, Vice President of Consumer Lending at Navy Federal. “Our partnership with CARFAX gives members an extra layer of ease during the car-buying process. Combining Navy Federal’s numerous car buying resources with trusted information from CARFAX, our members can make educated buying decisions and feel more confident that they’re making the right choice.”

Navy Federal and CARFAX strengthened their partnership to provide this new member benefit that helps Navy Federal members identify cars with potential problems and purchase safe, reliable ones. Eligible members who are approved for a used auto loan will receive an email notification providing them with access to their free CARFAX Report.

“CARFAX has a long history of working with credit unions and other financial institutions to help minimize loan risk,” said David Lackey, General Manager at CARFAX. “Access to CARFAX data and products for Navy Federal and their members is another safeguard against paying too much for vehicles with a history of problems and potential scams.”

CARFAX Reports help consumers and lenders determine a vehicle’s value and identify important events such as reported accidents, open recalls, registration history, damages from natural disasters, warranty information, and more.
